

Introduction essay topic describing the house

Writing an essay on the home should be something that every person should care about and look for the importance of the home and how to preserve it, as building a family depends entirely on stability in both life and housing, and these are reasons that every person must take into consideration, in order to live a wonderful and built life On stability and peace of mind, and the most important of these factors is the house that will include that family and shelter it under its roof, as the house is a constant memory, which preserves the laughter and sorrows of its people, and its limbs carry the first words uttered by the children of that family, so the house is silent but it is a witness to all the things that go through life The family through all the years, whether joys or calamities.

Introduction to a topic about the importance of the home in human life

For a person, the house is the only place in which he feels psychological comfort from all the pressures that a person is exposed to, whether at work or through contact with people, as it is the first place that a person goes to in order to feel calm and tranquility, and to obtain some comfort and reassurance between his children and his wife, therefore We must know the importance of the house, and how to maintain it and its interdependence.

Definition of home

The house has many definitions and each of us defines it according to his view of the place in which he lives, and in our article on the topic of the expression of the house, we will present a general definition of the house:

- The house is one of the most private property of a person, and it is a witness to the stages of his life and the situations that occur to him throughout the years of his life.
- The house is built with specific equipment such as clay, cement, etc., And furniture is added inside it based on the choice of the occupant.
- The home is one of the basics responsible for the formation of the family, as it is protection and security for them from all external dangers.
- Everyone inside his house is the owner and he is the owner, and he builds it according to his customs and traditions.

The importance of the home to the family

The theme of home expression occupies a great place in the hearts of family members; this is because the home for them is of great importance, rather it is considered the basis of the family and the basis for their reunification.

- Home is the preferred refuge for the family as a whole, and brings them together on all occasions, whether sad or happy.
- Family members inside the house spend the best nights of summer, and learn the customs and traditions inside it while they are sheltered by its affectionate walls.
- And how many nights the children of the house spend around their grandmother after she prepares for them their favorite drinks, and she sits telling them a fairy tale from her beautiful stories, which has always placed the best values and principles within our souls.

- How many fathers returned home after a long day of hard work, to get inside them the smell of delicious food and the feeling of the beautiful family's warmth.
- Memories of the house are ingrained in our minds. They cannot go away, no matter how much we live in modern homes.
- The old house has a special flavor in our hearts, and the children inherit it throughout their lives.

Brief profile of country houses

In the context of the discussion within the topic of the expression of the house, we must mention the houses of the Egyptian countryside, because of their beauty, grandeur, and a sense of warmth in them.

- The shape of the house in the countryside varies according to the region to which it belongs, and this affects its appearance, as well as the shape of its structure.
- We find the house, which is surrounded by the countryside, bright, because of the beauty of the many brightly colored flowers, and the house's furniture is designed from tree wood.
- In most of the times it is made of clay, and its furniture is the pinnacle of splendor and simplicity.
- The rural house is divided in a way that distinguishes it from the house inside the city. Some of the country houses have a barn for animals, and there is a barn for sheep, and the like.
- And also the oven made of clay until bread is baked in it, and a barn in which all kinds of poultry are raised.
- A country house surrounded by a bunch of fruit trees.

Brief description of the house within the city

The house in the city is one of the most beautiful houses you can see; Because it is built in a modern style, and since we are talking about an expression about the house, we will mention some information related to the city house.

- The house inside the city is the pinnacle of the splendor of the new construction, and the furniture is modern and bright in its colors.
- The house in the city is different according to its construction and according to its floors, and its construction is also made of modern, advanced building materials.
- It is located close to service institutions as well as markets and hospitals.
- One of the basics of a city home is electricity and a lot of the possibilities of high technology.

Accessories in the house

The house has a lot of things and each house has different accessories depending on who lives in it and based on the needs of each person.

- The house has many sections that distinguish it, and increase its beauty as well as its wonderful memories.
- Many houses have gardens surrounding them filled with green plants and grass, which is the color of peace and tranquility.
- Also, the swimming pools that children enjoy inside the house, where everyone in the house enjoys, entertains and plays.
- Some houses have pens for raising chickens and other animals.

Conclusion on the subject of an expression on the house

No matter how old we are, childhood memories will remain the best among our memories, so we talk about the topic of expressing the home and this is because of its importance, and the laughter that we launched in the house remains the most beautiful over time, so we must build our homes with love and hope, and we root affection and faith within our homes, so that they take root. Inside the minds of our sisters and our children.